1. [redacted] the various installations included in the construction project "Aktion Oestlich Berlin" were given the following numerical designations: 25X1

Installation 1: Buildings at Strausberg airfield which are scheduled to be repaired and reconditioned for an administrative headquarters.

Installation 2: The "Euil-Woelke" Ledigenheim (home for bachelors) between the airfield and Strausberg which is earmarked to serve as officer billets.

Installation 3: Buildings located on Wriezener Chaussee; they are scheduled to serve as officer billets and instruction buildings.

Installation 4: "Marenkow" Jugendhof (youth hostel) at Waldsiefersdorf am Roten Luch; its future use has not been determined.

Installation 5: Quarters facilities in the wooded area near Strausberg railroad station for about 5,000 tank troops and engineers. This installation was nearing completion.

2. Further construction work envisaged in connection with the project includes a road for tanks extending from the autobahn as far as Installation No. 5; the erection of 20 residential houses in the area near Lake Inlandsee near Wilkendorf for the High Command of the KVP including Interior Minister Stoph. Another 40 such houses are scheduled to be built by 1955. It is also planned to extend the elevated train line from Strausberg railroad station to the airfield. Since the financial means required for this project could not yet be made available, it is planned to build a temporary spur track from Hegermuhle railroad station to the airfield.

[redacted] Comment: Installation No. 2 probably is the former Landesjugendheim (provincial youth hostel) that prior to its being taken over by the KVP was occupied by an artillery school of the GDFC. Installation No. 5 is a large barracks installation, information on the construction of which was transmitted previously. 25X1
